

G. O. P. LEADERS IN A WRECK.

VOTERS IN REVOLT

REAL MEANING OF "INSURGENT" MOVEMENT.

Opportunity for Democratic Party to Serve the People by the Restoration of Good Government.

The reputation of the regular Republicans in the states of the middle west means the same thing exactly as was indicated by the election of Foss in Massachusetts. It means that the voters are seeking instruments who will carry out their will at Washington in those respects in which the Republican organization has allied itself with the classes against the masses. It means that the masters have reached that state of mind in which if one servant or set of servants will not execute their bidding, they will turn to another. It means that the general public has at last been driven to understanding of the real purposes of the league so long existing between syndicated greed and political treachery, and that in former Republican strongholds the men who want office must bottom their claims to it upon allegiance to the people rather than on thick and thin loyalty to party shibboleths and emblems. It means that in the next congress the Democratic representatives, instead of having to contend with a solid Republican phalanx, will find both in the senate and in the house of representatives a strong contingent of able men who have been commissioned by their constituencies to defy ring domination and caucus dictation and to treat as their first duty the effecting of those public policies for which the Democracy has been ostensibly battling for many years.

Something Uncle Joe "Forgot." Among other things that Mr. Cannon told the old settlers of Iroquois county, he said that in the old days dressed hogs sold for $1.50 a hundred and quinine for four dollars an ounce, while now quinine could be bought for 25 cents an ounce. He did not say what the farmer's profit was at $1.50 which is the important part of his proposition. As to quinine the situation was somewhat unfortunate. For it is well known what has contributed to the price reduction of that important drug. European governments have systematically cultivated trees from which to get it, and long after they did so, and all Europe was getting the benefit of it the "stand-patters" of that day in this country insisted on maintaining the tariff on quinine so that practically all that was used here was monopolized by a Philadelphia factory, and the price amounted to the world price plus the tariff tax with unquenching regularity. The situation finally became a national scandal and a great outcry against the "blood tax" was made; so great that resistance was finally useless (though it took more hammering than Mr. Cannon and his co-stand-patters have so far got today) and so the tariff tax was repealed. This is why quinine is reduced in price in this country; we are simply allowed to avail ourselves of the world supply. Uncle Joe ought not to ramble so far afield.—Indianapolis News.

The Tariff Justly Blamed. The minority, or Democratic, report of the senate committee on the alium and to treat as their first duty the effecting of those public policies for which the Democracy has been ostensibly battling for many years.

It will be remembered that the majority, or Republican, report studiously whitewashed the tariff, making such indirect references to its influence upon wages and commodities as to clothe the product of Messrs. Aldrich and Payne in almost vernal innocence.

It remains now to be seen what effect the circulation of this report will have on the next elections. Indications multiply that the country is going to place reliance upon the Democracy for such revisions as deserve that classification.

With Republicans warring in practically all the pivotal states, the joint report of Senators Johnston, Clarke and Smith ought to make good campaign literature.

It seems that Aldrich and Payne played the rubber and the people lost.—Austin Statesman.

FREE HIDES AND THE TARIFF

Another Republican "Argument" Proved to Have No Basis in Sound Reason.

Defenders of the tariff, especially Senator Lodge, dwell on the fact that with free hides and a reduction of the duty on shoes, prices of shoes have increased. But to argue that this increase proves that the tariff has nothing to do with prices is just as absurd as it would be to say that free trade makes prices higher.

It is true that hides are higher than before the duty was removed, but this increase is due to the decrease in the supply of beef cattle—the same decrease that has affected the cost of meats. If, with this limited supply of domestic hides, a duty on imports was also imposed, the cost of hides would be still higher.

A factor more important than that of hides enters into the increased cost of shoes. It is the trust that has been formed to control, and does control, shoemaking machinery. This trust owns the patents of practically all machinery that would, under fair competition, make for cheap manufacture and cheap shoes. It will not sell its machinery, but lets it out on heavy royalties, recently increased.

Some day the government, in addition to adjusting the tariff to a basis of equality, will prevent the monopolizing of any patent whatsoever. That is to say, it will protect the inventor or pay him consistently for his invention, but it will place that invention at the disposal of all competitors who can make use of it.

Mr. Tariff's Mistake. It is very curious that the president should have made the mistake of attaching himself to the regulars, or stand-patters, or whatever they may be called. In his Akron speech of about five years ago he showed that all his instincts were for political independence. His campaign speeches committed him to substantial tariff reduction—except on crockery, which is made in Ohio.

He has said that he found Aldrich and Cannon placed in power by the Republican party, and he simply recognized the existing situation. But Aldrich was not established in power by the party. Rhode Island put him in the senate, and his personal influence did the rest. The Republican party in a national sense did not put Cannon in the chair; it was only the Republican members of the house. The president understood perfectly that both Aldrich and Cannon were strongly opposed to that tariff revision which he supported and which the party platform promised.

He ought to have attached his administration to party leaders who were in accord with himself and the platform.

Tariff Does Advance Prices. Back in the days of the long ago we used to be assured by the protectionists that "the foreigner pays the tax," and even yet the majority of the committee to investigate the increased cost of living insists that the tariff does not advance prices, but on the showing of the minority report it is evident that the tariff not only does advance prices, but advances them most in places where the advance can be least easily borne. It appears that the task of defending the tariff is not going to grow easier as the campaign proceeds.

The lead statue of George III. in New York city, pulled down during the revolution, is to be restored, it is said. Why not? The renewal of the stand-patism and unjustifiable taxation against which the revolutionists fought more successfully than their descendants ought to be commemorated in some way.

Nebraska to Be Democratic.

The New York Times' special correspondent in Omaha confidently predicts a Democratic landslide in Nebraska this year. In the Sixty-first congress Nebraska has four Republican and two Democratic representatives. Because of the row between the Republican insurgents and regulars it is believed that six Democratic representatives will be returned to the next congress. This overturn would be less surprising than a Democratic victory in Maine, which is also predicted by some acute observers on the spot, though with less confidence and some reservations. The one thing certain is that the Maine Democrats are aroused to action, and are acting with more spirit and intelligence than they have shown for many years. They have nominated for governor a well-tried public officer and good vote-getter, Colonel Plaisted.

Young Mr. Hitchcock, the Wagstaff of the administration, is the most recent one delegated to come and ascertain what the West is saying and if they really mean it.

TROUBLE IN SPAIN

Pretender Who Threatens to Battle for the Throne.

Origin of the Present Difficulty Between the Government and the Vatican—The Carlists Plot Revolt.

Madrid.—The Carlists of Spain, who have been threatening revolution in connection with the present controversy between the government and the Vatican, take their name from Don Carlos, brother of King Ferdinand VII. Ferdinand about 1830 set aside by royal decree the salic law, which excluded females from the throne, in favor of his infant daughter, afterwards Queen Isabella. This decree, whose constitutionality is and probbly ever will be a matter of dispute to Spanish legists, set aside Don Carlos, who would otherwise have been indisputably heir apparent. Don Carlos after protesting in words for several years against his deprivation began in 1834 to protest in arms.

A terrible civil war followed, which ended only in 1840 with the defeat of the Carlists. Spain was a long time in recovering from the effects of the struggle. Under Don Carlos II, son and successor of Don Carlos I, war broke out again in 1873 and was not stamped out for three years. Don Jaime is the son of Don Carlos II, and is said to be a man of considerable military ability.

The revision of the Concordat, which regulates the relations between church and state, is at the bottom of the difficulty. Arrayed on one side is the government, supported by the king, and on the other are the Catholic church and the vast power and wealth of the religious orders.

The Concordat dates back to 1851 and does not fit existing conditions. The present premier, Senor Canalejas, has undertaken to revise it and at the very outset drew upon himself the antagonism of the church. By the provisions of this instrument the church is subject to certain restrictions, which really have never been enforced. One of these limits the number of religious orders in the kingdom to fewer than 100. Owing, however, to the non-enforcement of the law, there are nearly 4,000 orders in Spain, many of them owning property and enjoying exemption from taxation and possessing also other special privileges. In opening up the question of the revision of the Concordat, Senor Canalejas announced his intention of enforcing the provisions of the law of 1851 relative to the religious orders. The church, of course, interposed its objection and made its intention plain that the revision it wanted was such as would remove the restrictions of 1851 and increase rather than diminish its authority and power. Neither side has seemed inclined to yield.

The Carlists, who are opposed to the present dynasty, are particularly active, and now that King Alfonso has thrown in his lot with Senor Canalejas, the religious orders are said to regard with favor a Carlist movement. The republicans, or radicals, are also planning the establishment of a republic, so that King Alfonso's throne seems to be menaced from two sides. The Carlist leader is Don Jaime, son of the late Don Carlos, and he has the support of the clergy, the peasants and the aristocrats. Don Jaime was born in 1870 and is called the Duke of Madrid in court circles.

Ten Ears of Corn in One. Waynesboro, Pa.—A roasting ear that will not be roasted, boiled or cooked in any other manner, but preserved as a curiosity as long as it lasts, was grown by Charles E. Besore, merchant, Center square, Waynesboro, on his West Main street lot.

It consists of ten separate ears in one compact bunch, a little crowded and misshapen, but otherwise perfect. One husk serves for all the ears, and when Mr. Besore discovered the curiosity, after the husk was torn away, he decided not to have it assigned to the boiling pot.

A MARVELOUS RECOVERY.

How a Chronic Invalid Regained Perfect Health.

Mrs. Ray Trusner, 30 West Third St., New Albany, Ind., says: "Kidney disease had rendered me a chronic invalid. I lay in bed unable to move hand or foot. My right limb was swollen to twice normal size. I looked the picture of death and my case puzzled the doctors. The kidney secretions were highly colored and scalded terribly. Marked improvement followed the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. In six weeks I was a well woman. My friends and relatives marvel at my recovery."

Remember the name—Doan's. For sale by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

WHERE HE SAVED MONEY.

"You say it costs less to run this automobile than that trotting horse you owned?"

"Yes; I used to bet on the trotting horse."

A Shipping Error.

The young Duchess of Westminster, wife of the richest peer in England, recently gave birth to her third child, a daughter. Thus there is no heir to the immense Grosvenor fortune, Earl Grosvenor, the Duchess's second child, having died at the age of four.

Apocryphal of all this, a rather cruel story is being told in Newport about Lady Ursula Grosvenor, the 8-year-old daughter of the young duchess.

A friend, the story goes, called at Eaton Hall, and as she sat in the drawing-room, little Lady Ursula entered.

"Oh, good afternoon," she said gravely. "Mamma can't see any one today. She's upstairs with the new baby. They sent her, you know, a girl when she'd ordered a boy, and she's so upset that she's quite ill."

HOW A DOCTOR CURED SCALP DISEASE

"When I was ten or twelve years old I had a scalp disease, something like scald head, though it wasn't that. I suffered for several months, and most of my hair came out. Finally they had a doctor to see me and he recommended the Cuticura Remedies. They cured me in a few weeks. I have used the Cuticura Remedies, also, for a breaking out on my hands and was benefited a great deal. I haven't had any more trouble with the scalp disease." Miss Jessie F. Buchanan, R. F. D. 3, Hamilton, Ga., Jan. 7, 1909.

Kept with Barnum's Circus.

P. T. Barnum, the famous circus man, once wrote: "I have had the Cuticura Remedies among the contents of my medicine chest with my shows for the last three seasons, and I can cheerfully certify that they were very effective in every case which called for their use."

Try to Come Back.

Not long ago Lord Kinnaird, who is always actively interested in religious work, paid a surprise visit to a mission school in the east end of London and told a class of boys the story of Samson. Introducing his narrative, his lordship added:

"He was strong, became weak, and then regained his strength, enabling him to destroy his enemies. Now, boys, if I had an enemy, what would you advise me to do?"

A little boy, after meditating on the secret of that great giant's strength, shot up his hand and exclaimed: "Get a bottle of 'air restorer.'"

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Bile's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A STITCH IN TIME

Every form of cutaneous disease could be cured in its incipency if a jar of Resinol Ointment were kept at hand. A little of this excellent Ointment applied in time will effectually ward off and cure a starting trouble which, if neglected, may prove a troublesome and often obstinate case of Eczema or other disfiguring skin disease. For burns, scalds, slight wounds, sores, eruption of poison ivy, sunburn, it is a quick and sure remedy, usually curing these troubles over night. To the unfortunate sufferer with Hemorrhoids (itching or inflamed Piles) Resinol ointment is indeed a godsend. The intense pain and intolerable itching of this trouble is instantaneously relieved and a cure effected in a very short time.

The bath room or family medicine case is incomplete if not equipped with Resinol Soap and Ointment. They are most valuable accessories in every well regulated household, and can be obtained at any drug store. Resinol Medicated Shaving Stick is also highly appreciated by men who regard a good complexion and a face free from pimples and blotches. Booklet on Care of the Skin and Complexion sent free on application. Resinol Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

Global Lightning.

Yesterday the inhabitants of Lewis-ham were provided with a specimen of that curious phenomenon known as "global lightning." It is what is commonly called the "fire ball," and as it persists for several seconds it is obviously of a totally different character from any other form of lightning. It is much less brilliant than ordinary lightning, and its brightness appears to be that of iron at the "red hot" stage.

It is not, as some accounts might lead one to infer, a solid missile, but it is always spherical and appears to fall from a thunder cloud by its own gravity, sometimes rebounding after striking the ground.—London Globe.

When the Fish Exploded.

Somebody discovered that fish are fond of gasoline, and this led to the idea of soaking worms in gasoline in order to make them more alluring when used for bait.

Mark the result. Two of those gasoline-tempted fish exploded in the frying-pan, and broke the kitchen window, and blew the cook's face full of mashed potato, and hurled the teakettle into the flour barrel, and painted the kitchen ceiling with stewed tomatoes.

Call it a lying word and let it go at that.

A Liking for "Hamlet."

"Do you like Hamlet?" asked the hostess of her unlettered, if gushing, guest.

"Indeed I do," was the reply. "I am excessively fond of it, but I always prefer a savory to a sweet one."

There was a momentary confusion, and then the hostess realized that the admiration of the guest was of a culinary, not literary, character.

"I gave her ham with an omelette for breakfast next morning," said the hostess, when telling the story.—Scraps.

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

It Makes Weak Women Strong. It Makes Sick Women Well. Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good." Accept no secret nostrum in place of this non-secret remedy. It contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drugs. Is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.

Talking to the Child.

"Mrs. X— talks to little Madge just as Mr. X— talks to their dog," said a little girl of a neighboring family. And it was indeed true. Mrs. X— is a very well-meaning woman and would be greatly surprised if she should hear the foregoing statement. She has simply unconsciously acquired a harsh tone of voice in dealing with her children. This is altogether unnecessary and is not, as many mothers seem to think, a mark of good discipline. The mother whose manner is quiet but firm is generally a much more successful disciplinarian than the harsh-voiced mother who issues her commands in a dictatorial manner. Kindness never spoils children. It is faddy indecision, sometimes mistaken for kindness, which spoils them.

Where Size Counts.

Edna thoughtfully considered a cow that was calmly grazing in a meadow across the way. "Mamma, how old is that cow," she finally inquired. "She is four years old," answered Edna's mother. Edna considered the answer and from time to time appeared to be comparing herself with the cow. "Well," was her parting comment on the question, "I'm five and that cow is big enough to be fifty."

WESTERN CANADA'S 1910 CROPS

Wheat Yield in Many Districts Will Be From 25 to 35 Bushels Per Acre

Land sales and homestead entries increasing. No cessation in numbers going from United States. Wonderful opportunities remain for those who intend making Canada their home. New districts being opened up for settlement. Many farmers will never get a better time than now to acquire a home in the west. The advantages of old settled countries are there. Good schools, churches, splendid markets, excellent railway facilities. See the grain exhibit at the different State and some of the County fairs.

Letters similar to the following are received every day, testifying to satisfactory conditions; other districts are as favorably spoken of:

THEY SENT FOR THEIR SON. Maidstone, Sask., Canada, Aug. 20, 1909. "My parents came here from Cedar Falls, Iowa, four years ago, and were well pleased with this country they sent to Cedar Falls for me. I have taken up a homestead near them, and am perfectly satisfied to stay here."

WANTS SEVENTEEN RATS FOR HIS STOCK. Stettin, Alberta, July 24, 1909. "I got up here from Forest City, Iowa, last Spring in good shape with the stock and everything. Now, I have got two boys back in Iowa yet, and I've got back there now so to get them and another car up here this fall. What I would like to know is if it is true to get a cheap rate to come back again, and when we return to Canada I will call at your office for our conditions."

WILL MAKE HIS HOME IN CANADA. Brantford, Ont., Aug. 1st, 1909. "I am going to Canada a week from today and intend to make my home there. My husband has been there six weeks and is well pleased with the country; he is going to come as soon as possible. He died on a claim near Landis, Sask., and by the description of it it must be a pretty place."
